Chairwoman's Letter to Shareholders

1 September 2024 to 28 February 2025

Dear Shareholder,

I am writing to update you on the activities of BlackRock Global Funds ('BGF') over the six months to 28 February 2025. The BGF range comprised 109 Funds (each a "Fund", together the "Funds") as at 28 February 2025.

The past six months have been characterised by further gains in global equity markets as inflation has remained under control and central banks in Europe and North America have relaxed monetary policy. Despite the recent period of high interest rates, economic growth around the world has remained relatively resilient, especially in the US. However, conflict in the Middle East and Ukraine as well as concerns about the US government's plans to impose a wide range of tariffs on its largest international trading partners have weighed on investor sentiment and created volatility, in particular in the later stages of the review period.

In Europe, gross domestic product ("GDP") data remained relatively weak. The Eurozone economy expanded by 0.4% in the third quarter of 2024 but growth was flat between October and December. By contrast, the US economy grew faster than expected over 2024 as a whole and was supported by consumer spending and resilience in the employment market. In the most recent edition of its World Economic Outlook Update, published in January 2025, the International Monetary Fund ("IMF") said it expected the world economy to grow by 3.3% in both 2025 and 2026. The IMF warned that global financial stability could be threatened by loose fiscal policy in the medium term, although more recent developments – most notably, the tariffs imposed by President Trump and other nations' responses to them – could have a significant impact on the world economy in 2025 and beyond.

Following market turbulence in August 2024, the six-month period began with strong gains in global markets as the US Federal Reserve ("the Fed") followed the European Central Bank ("ECB") and the Bank of England ("BoE") in starting to cut interest rates. This was the Fed's first rate reduction in more than four years. Gains in September were particularly strong among major technology companies, especially those with exposure to artificial intelligence ("AI"). However, concerns about the potential benefits of AI as well as the cost of developing and implementing the technology grew as the financial period wore on.

In China, stock markets recovered after a raft of new stimulus measures were announced by the People's Bank of China and the Chinese government at the end of September. Share prices had struggled earlier in the year due to concerns about the health of the country's real-estate sector and weak economic growth. Having reached record highs in the summer as a result of high capital inflows from foreign investors, strength in the corporate sector and the weakening yen, share prices in Japan declined gradually over the course of the six months as investors reacted to rising interest rates and geopolitical uncertainty.

Donald Trump's victory in the US presidential election in November initially sparked significant share-price gains on Wall Street and elsewhere in the world. President Trump was expected to introduce more business-friendly policies in his second term. However, there was concern among investors in late 2024 and early 2025 about the potential impact of new US tariffs on imports from Europe, China and other major trading partners.

There was continued volatility in fixed-income assets during the period. Globally, government bond yields declined between May and October 2024 as central banks started to loosen monetary policy (when yields fall, bond prices rise). However, yields rose on US Treasuries and other governments' bonds towards the end of the year due to uncertainty surrounding the impact of the Trump administration's economic policies and fears that central banks might be forced to slow the pace of interest-rate cuts.

The assets under management ("AUM") in the BGF range fell 3.5% from USD 154.7 billion to USD 149.2 billion over the period.

The largest outflows in percentage terms were seen across a broad range of Funds during the six months. The assets in the Emerging Markets Fund declined by 65.3% to end the period at USD 850.7 million, while the size of the MyMap Cautious Fund – which was renamed from the ESG Flex Choice Cautious Fund in November 2024 – decreased by 58.1% to end at EUR 16.3 million. In absolute terms, the net asset value of the Sustainable Energy Fund fell by USD 1.6 billion or 30.6% to end the period at USD 3.7 billion while the World Healthscience Fund decreased in size by USD 1.2 billion or 7.9% to finish the review period at USD 14.0 billion.

There were notable increases, meanwhile, in the size of the Emerging Europe Fund, where assets rose 387.6% to end the period at EUR 17.7 million, and in the Systematic Global Sustainable Income & Growth Fund, which increased 122.6% to close at USD 226.6 million.

Assets in the Systematic Global Equity High Income Fund increased by USD 2.5 billion (38.6%) over the six months, and the net asset value of the Fixed Income Global Opportunities Fund rose by USD 1.0 billion. This represented an increase of 15.3% over the period.

During the period, there were a number of changes to the BGF range. The China Impact Fund and the Future Consumer Fund were both terminated in October 2024, while the ESG Global Multi-Asset Income Fund was closed in December 2024. Meanwhile, several Funds were launched. The Euro High Yield Fixed Maturity Bond Fund 2027 and the Euro High Yield Fixed Maturity Bond Fund 2028 were launched in September 2024 and February 2025 respectively, and the Euro Investment Grade Fixed Maturity Bond Fund 2028 was launched in October 2024. Finally, the AI Innovation Fund was launched in December 2024.

The information stated in this report is historical and not necessarily indicative of future performance.

Chairwoman's Letter to Shareholders

1 September 2024 to 28 February 2025 continued

Regulatory change continued throughout Europe and a number of these developments could have implications for investors. Key changes included:

- The European Union's Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation ("SFDR") imposes new transparency and reporting obligations on investment management firms, both at a firm-wide level and at a product level. Certain parts of the framework were finalised in 2022 and adopted at the start of 2023. At the same time, the EU has developed an EU-wide classification system or 'framework'. This taxonomy is designed to provide businesses and investors with a common language to identify to what degree economic activities can be considered environmentally sustainable. There have also been moves to improve reporting, with the Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive ("CSRD") implemented beginning in 2024. Under the CSRD regulations, companies are obliged to report on sustainability across their supply chains ("Scope 3"), and are also required to incorporate double materiality into their reporting. Double materiality is the requirement to report not just on how sustainability-related issues affect the company, but how the company's activities affect the likes of the environment, climate change and social issues. The Luxembourg government recently took further steps to encourage investment in environmentally sustainable funds, reducing the 'taxe d'abonnement' (subscription tax) for funds that meet certain environmental criteria.

- Also in 2024, the FCA introduced new rules governing the marketing of certain investment funds established outside the UK. Under the Overseas Fund Regime ("OFR"), authorised funds can be promoted to retail investors in the same way as authorised collective investment schemes that have been set up in the UK. The OFR is available to most funds established in European Economic Area and European Union member states that have been authorised under the European Commission's UCITS Directive.

Investment Adviser's Report
Performance overview

1 September 2024 to 28 February 2025

Market Review

Over the six months under review as a whole, global stock markets performed positively as inflation remained under control and major central banks in North America and Europe continued to reduce interest rates. However, there was increasing volatility towards the end of the period as uncertainty around the direction of trade and foreign policy in the US grew.

The period began with strong gains in September 2024 as both the Fed and the ECB cut interest rates. Declines in oil prices, which followed speculation that Saudi Arabia was considering abandoning its unofficial USD 100-a-barrel target, helped to calm fears of a renewed rise in inflation.

Donald Trump's victory in the US presidential election in November prompted significant gains on Wall Street and other global markets as investors anticipated tax cuts and a more favourable regulatory environment in the US. However, there was volatility in equity prices at the start of 2025 as President Trump initially unveiled plans to impose tariffs on China, Mexico and Canada, and then unexpectedly broadened the number of countries whose goods would be subject to import levies. This led to a rotation out of US stocks and into Europe: major indices on Wall Street declined over the course of February, while share prices in countries such as Germany, France and the UK continued to rise.

Meanwhile, shares in the world's largest technology businesses sold off in January 2025 following reports that a Chinese AI company had managed to create a large-language model at a fraction of the cost and computing power of similar software developed by major US firms. In the second half of 2024, investors had begun to question the levels of capital investment required to develop new AI systems, as well as whether the technology would be able to deliver the large-scale productivity gains promised by its proponents.

The economic outlook in China finally showed signs of improvement following a challenging post-pandemic period. The announcement of wide-ranging new stimulus measures at the end of September was well received by investors and prompted a surge in Chinese stock markets. Japan's stock market performance was more subdued following the strong gains recorded in the first half of 2024. Stocks in Tokyo fell back as investors grew concerned that the Bank of Japan ("BoJ") would make further increases to interest rates.

While the start of central bank interest-rate cutting programmes in Europe and the US helped global bond yields to fall and prices to rise in the period leading up to October 2024 (bond yields move inversely to prices), yields in the US and UK in particular ticked up again towards the end of the year and at the start of 2025. This was due to expectations that economic policies in both countries could increase inflationary pressures in 2025 and beyond. The yield on 10-year US Treasuries reached 4.8% in mid-January 2025, close to its post-COVID high, having fallen as low as 3.6% in September 2024.

Outlook

Following positive equity-market performance in most of 2024, the picture in 2025 has been considerably more mixed. Despite signs that inflation remains under control as well as further central bank interest-rate reductions, a number of new events have emerged, leading to significant volatility in equity, bond and commodities markets.

The geopolitical situation in the Middle East and Ukraine remains unstable, while the unpredictable nature of the new US administration's approach to international trade and foreign policy has created significant levels of uncertainty among businesses and investors alike. At the same time, the development of lower-cost AI models has called into question the ongoing high levels of capital expenditure on technology infrastructure by major software companies.

On the positive side, however, China's renewed efforts to stimulate its economy have been well received by investors and have the potential to play an important role in the growth of the global economy in the months ahead.

Despite the macroeconomic challenges of recent years, the corporate sector has remained reasonably robust to date, although there are signs of slowing consumer spending and weakening business confidence in the US and Europe.

Notwithstanding these events, there are companies in all areas of the global economy that have demonstrated their resilience through recent turbulence, and which are set to benefit from looser monetary policy. While there will undoubtedly be challenges in the months ahead, so too will opportunities continue to emerge.

Environmental, social and governance (''ESG″) policy
The performance return table outlines the investment management approach adopted for each Fund. It also identifies which Funds promote environmental or social characteristics ("Article 8 Funds") or have sustainable investments as an objective ("Article 9 Funds"), under the EU Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation ("SFDR"). Further detail around how Article 8 and Article 9 Funds have achieved these characteristics and objectives is included in the Sustainability-related disclosures supplementary section to the Annual Report.

For any other Funds that do not meet the SFDR criteria for Article 8 or 9 Funds, the investments underlying this financial product do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The Investment Adviser has access to arrange of data sources, including principal adverse indicator ("PAI") data, when making decisions on the selection of investments. However, whilst BlackRock considers ESG risks for all portfolios and these risks may coincide with environmental or social them asassociated with the PAIs, unless stated otherwise in the prospectus, each Fund does not commit to considering PAIs in driving the selection of their investments.

Disclosed in the table below are the performance returns for the A Class Non-Distributing Share Class for each Fund, net of fees and expenses, which has been selected as a representative Share Class. Performance returns for any other Share Class can be made available on request.

Calculation methodology is based on industry standards.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance and should not be the sole factor of consideration when selecting a product. All financial investments involve an element of risk. Therefore, the value of an investment and the income from it will vary and the initial investment amount cannot be guaranteed. The Fund invests in a large portion of assets which are denominated in currencies other than US dollar; hence changes in the relevant exchange rate will affect the value of the investment. The performance figures do not consider charges and fees that may be levied at the time of subscription or redemption of shares. Levels and bases of taxation may change from time to time. Subscriptions may be made only on the basis of the current Prospectus, of which the most recent annual report and audited financial statements and interim report and unaudited financial statements form an integral part, as well as Key Information Documents (PRIIPs KID). Copies are available from Investor Services, the Transfer Agent, the Management Company or any of the Representatives or Distributors. The BGF range is only available for investment by non-US persons. It is not offered for sale or sold in the US, its territories or possessions.

The Funds are not registered for sale to the public in all jurisdictions. Further details on distribution of shares of the Funds are included in the Authorised Status on page 3.
